Death Calls Little Boy

The funeral and burial of little Lewis Pettiner Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. D. Richmond, whose death occurred Saturday at 8 p. m., took place Sunday afternoon, Pastor Albert of the Presbyterian church, conducting the services. Deceased had been ill about fifteen days. He was the youngest of the children, no having yet reached his fifth birthday, which would have been May 1st, and the fond parents are heart-broken over his loss. A large gathering of sorrowing friends attended the last sad rites and there were many beautiful floral tributes. The entire community deeply sympathize with the bereaved ones.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our grateful thanks to the many neighbors and friends who drew about us during the sickness of our beloved little Lewis and by so many acts of love tried to do what they could. O, may God's great blessings attend you.

Married Ladies Social Club

It was a very pleasant meeting of the Married Ladies' Social Club held on the afternoon of April 6 with Mrs. Speck at her cozy little home in Solana.

Fourteen members answered to roll call. Mesdames Elliott, Woltzky and Bond, and little Blanche, Mary and Billie Bond, were pleasant visitors at this meeting.

The hostess served refreshments which every one enjoys and never refuses, as the temptation is strong for four o'clock luncheon.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Banister, April 20th. Responses to be anecdotes.—MRS. W. L. KOON, Sec.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

Jasper News:—We cannot understand why the State of Florida and many individuals are crazy to drain swamps when Florida has millions of acres of high, dry lands that need only to be fenced to be ready for cultivation.

Arcadia Enterprise:—The Punta Gorda Herald intimates that the fellow who persists in spelling DeSoto with an "a" will excite The Enterprise to add a double "s." That's all right, Bro. Jordan, you can introduce that method of spelling DeSoto if you like; there is no rule for spelling proper names, but we want to put you on notice now that, in case of county division, you will have to take the last syllable.

Gainesville Sun:—Probably never in the history of Florida has politics been worse mixed than at the present time. Personal friends hold aloof from discussing political candidates in many instances simply because religious prejudice has entered into the fitness of men for office and feeling is so tense that they realize it is useless to discuss the merits of candidates when religion enters into their qualifications.

Wauchula Advocate:—The Advocate editor realizes that it is the privilege of any one to send out of town for job printing that can be done as well or better at home, but people who follow such a system need not expect the local editor to lay awake at night studying how he can say something to please them. The average country editor can generally hold his own playing the old game of "you scratch my back and I will scratch yours."

Ocala Star:—An old-time friend of the Star, Arthur F. Odlin, arises to defend the supreme court of the state against what he considers a criticism of it in this paper. The Star has not criticized the supreme court of Florida. It has no doubt that its members are as honest and capable as the members of any court in the world. What the Star criticizes is the tangle of technicalities that cumber Florida law and prevent honest judges and sensible jurors from dealing out justice. For this condition corrupt lawyers and careless people (principally the latter) are responsible.

War may be all that it is said to be, but it has nothing on an unruly wisdom tooth.

Ocala Banner:—We hope that a legislature will be elected that will do away with the present primary law, as well as the "corrupt practice act." These laws are hedged about with much too much red tape, and seem based on the theory that the average voter in Florida cannot be trusted across the street, and a candidate for office, if not carefully guarded, will debauch the voter right and left.

of The Herald, with the action of said Board as misrepresented in the "Card from Mr. Hewitt," published in The Herald last week, in which card Mr. Hewitt indicates very clearly his antagonism to the special act of the legislature under which we are working, and on account of which antagonism of himself and others, threats of injunctions to stop work on the improvements now under way in this district, have been heard on every street corner for the past few weeks.

I am pleased that Mr. H. has put his antagonism to this law in print, for, in case the work shall be stopped by injunction, it will be impossible for Mr. Hewitt to dodge or deny responsibility for delays in the improvement of roads in the district, and for loss of employment by labor and teams now employed.—WM. M. WHITTEN.
